

SFAG SUPPLY LIST FOR STUDENTS

Much or all of your workshop is devoted to independent painting, so you should bring a variety of materials that you use in your everyday practice. In workshops, my approach is “less is more” and often limiting yourself to fewer colors or supplies challenges you and produces new and interesting results.

You may ship your materials to and from SFAG in advance. Contact Beverly Todd in advance to get instructions and advice on timing.

If you want to purchase any supplies in Santa Fe Artisan’s Art Supply, Home Depot, Lowe’s, and Hobby Lobby are also options.

CANVAS:

You’ll have a station that includes 3 wood panels totaling 72”h x 96”w and an easel if you wish. Depending on how quickly you work, I expect you’ll want to have 5 to 8 canvases.

Preparing canvases in advance by cutting and marking them will save time. They can be rolled and shipped to SFAG. Shipping directly from the art supply company is an easy option as well.

PAPER:

We’ll be doing a series of exercises on paper each day. It doesn’t need to be expensive paper.

Roll of paper 36” x 10 yds such as:

PAINTS:

NOTE: Please bring acrylic or water based paints. No oil paint or solvent based paints are suitable due to potentially toxic nature.

Bring whatever paints you like, and are comfortable working with. I like a selection of Golden fluid acrylics, heavy body and even paint in tubes.

ADDITIONAL SUPPLIES:

Brushes: A selection of what you like as well as several sizes of inexpensive hardware chip brushes (1 to 6")

Rubber color shapers if you use those or would like to try them

Palette knives for mixing or painting

Mark making materials, pencils, Stabilo, oil sticks, pastels, water based crayon, and any unconventional tools you like

Acrylic gel medium(s) I like Golden extra heavy gloss medium and Liquitex pourable glazing mediums

Paper plates for palettes

Large Binder Clips

Steel push pins

Wide masking tape

Plastic containers for storing paint and mixing glazes

Please bring tape for packing up and pre-printed shipping labels for return shipping.
